Statistical Data Supporting Need For Position/Ramifications of Not Filling Position

The inmate population of the Collin County Detention Facility continues to grow and the Sheriff's Office has been required to open an additional housing unit. The primary determinant of this is the increase in the male general population. Current legal capacity for male general population inmates is 648. Once the number of male inmates reaches 648, the jail is at risk of violating state jail standards if additional bed space is not available. To avoid this, a previously unoccupied housing pod in Cluster IV is used as needed to accommodate the inmate overflow which results in occasional increases in overtime to staff some of the required additional posts.

Failure to replace a terminating Detention Officer will result in additional overtime to fill required housing post.
