Judge-

The attached Word document has the original wording of the slaughterers statute, and three alternatives to modify it.

Alt. 1 simply uses the "all or any portion" language in place of the word "contains"

Alt. 2 adds any county with a population in excess of 750,000 as a qualifying county. (my favorite. Direct, simple, and applies to 8 counties.)

Alt. 3 changes the two city language to three cities, with the same total population standard of 500,000, but as a total of three cities rather than 250k for each of two cities.

Many more options are available. If you want more counties covered, then propose alt .2, and adding to it counties that abut counties with 750k or more also qualify for regulations. I used 750 to pick up 8 counties. If you want to add Denton, you could drop Alt. 2 to 700,000.

Hope this helps.

Let me know what changes you need, or if you want it converted into a Bill.

SLAUGHTERERS LEGISLATION
TEXAS LOCAL GOVERNMENT CODE SECTION 234.031, et.sec.

Shown below is the text of the Slaughterers provisions of the Texas Local Government Code Sec. 234.031-.037. Following the complete text of the section are three proposed alternatives for legislative amendment of 234.032. If passed, any of the amendments would result in the provisions below applying to Collin County. Initial assumptions are that the the state would use the 2000, rather than COG estimates or the 2010 census figures. The difference, for purposes of this proposal, is that Plano had less than the required 250,000 in population in 2000, and will have more than 250,000 under the 2010 census.

The second assumption is that the term in .032(1) "contains two or more municipalities with a population of 250,000 or more" means literally "contains" two such cities, or at least 250,000 of each city's population in Collin County. The proposed Alternative 1 below includes a change in which "contains" is replaced with "all or any portion" of two cities over 250,000. Doing so would qualify Collin County under the 2000 census. Denton County contains portions of both the City of Dallas, and the City of Fort Worth, and is contiguous to Collin County. Collin County would also qualify under the 2010 census by containing all or any portion of Plano and the City of Dallas.

ALTERNATIVE 1 IS SUGGESTED AS A CLARIFICATION TO THE EXISTING STATUTE, RESOLVING WHETHER “CONTAINS” MEANS ALL, A PORTION OF, A MAJORITY OF, OR SOME OTHER MEASURE OF THE POPULATION, OR AREA, OF THE TWO CITIES.

Alternative 1

Sec. 234.032. APPLICABILITY. This subchapter applies only in the unincorporated area of a county if the county:

- (1) contains all or any portion of two or more municipalities with a population of 250,000 or more; or
- (2) is a county adjacent to a county described by Subdivision (1).

ALTERNATIVE 2 IS A SUBSTANTIVE CHANGE, BUT MOVES AWAY FROM A COUNTY QUALIFYING ON CITY POPULATION, AND RELYS ON THE MORE DIRECT DEFINITION OF COUNTY POPULATION. TEXAS COUNTIES WITH POPULATIONS OVER 750,000 ARE BEXAR, COLLIN, DALLAS, TARRANT, EL PASO, HIDALGO (VERIFY), AND TRAVIS. THE PROPOSED SECTION 3 COULD ALSO INCLUDE COUNTIES ADJACENT TO IT, IF MORE COUNTIES ARE FELT TO BE AN ADVANTAGE IN GAINING SUPPORT FOR THE CHANGE.

Alternative 2.

Sec. 234.032. APPLICABILITY. This subchapter applies only in the unincorporated area of a county if the county:

- (1) contains two or more municipalities with a population of 250,000 or more; or
- (2) is a county adjacent to a county described by Subdivision (1), or

(3) is a county with a population of 750,000 or more.

ALTERNATIVE 3 EXTENDS THE THEORY THAT THE DENSLY POPULATED COUNTIES ARE THE ONES IN NEED OF THE AUTHORITY TO REGULATE, BASED ON THREE LARGE CITIES, RATHER THAN TWO.

Alternative 3.

Sec. 234.032. APPLICABILITY. This subchapter applies only in the unincorporated area of a county if the county:

(1) contains the majority of the incorporated area of three or more municipalities with a combined population of 500,000 or more: or

(2) is a county adjacent to a county described by Subdivision (1).
