RE: Pillowcases, Sheets, Towels

Mr. Langford,

As you know the current market for cotton products is at an all time high due to crop shortages. This has resulted from droughts and flooding causing crop failures.

Unfortunately, we must pass along price increases to our customers. Therefore effective immediately and until further notice the price for the above referenced products is increased by 15%.

We regret the necessity of this action and will work diligently to preserve this price as long as possible. When the market becomes more stable we will gladly pass along any cost savings to you.

Thank you for your continuing business.

Sincerely,

NoorAli Hussein
