RE: Centers for Disease Control and Prevention-National Center for Health Statistics

The National Center for Health Statistics, part of the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, is conducting a major study of the health of persons living in the United States. Collin County, Texas has been selected as one of the survey locations during the current National Health and Nutrition Examination Survey (NHANES).

The NHANES personnel will be conducting the survey in Collin County from March 17 through May 18, 2016. A sample of about 558 people will be asked to participate in the survey. Interviewers will be calling on designated households throughout the area.

These health surveys are completely funded by Centers for Disease Control and Prevention. The NHANES staff has requested letters of support from Collin County Leadership. The NHANES staff has requested an opportunity to present a short presentation to the court about the study so that you will have the facts and information needed in case you receive questions about this event.
