

3/15/2011

Steven Everett

Steve's experience with process improvement, service oriented architecture and .NET programming is an ideal fit for our application team. Steve is also a seasoned database administrator that can support our SQL Server environment. He has a strong background in process and technical documentation with proactive approach to projects. His knowledge of VB.NET, ASP.NET, AJAX, Perl, and XML are very useful tools for future projects as well as on-going support of applications already in production. Steve can help us improve our application framework.

Offer amount is above minimum based on skills, experience and need. Our programming positions have been difficult to fill based on the experience and qualification we're needing for in-house integrations and programming projects as we compete with the private industry salaries. Steve has over eleven year experience in program development. Steve is currently making $91,000.00. We've interviewed Steve and feel his skills and qualifications would be a good fit for our development area.