Re: County Road 50 Abandonment

County Road 50 is a legacy rock road from the Collin County's pre-development boom era maintained jointly by the County and Celina. Today, CR50 is sandwiched between the massive Light Farms MUD and the Dallas Parkway. The owners of the parcels adjacent to the road have signed a petition requesting Collin County to abandon the southern 1,672 ft. to facilitate future development. There are no houses on CR50. The relevant area is depicted in the attached exhibits.

Since the road is mutual boundary, the proposition would require Celina's endorsement to proceed. If approved by both, the road will be removed by private parties thus ending the County's maintenance responsibility along that stretch of land. PW staff has reviewed the proposal and concurs with this plan. Public Works requests Commissioners Court's consideration and approval to abandon 1,672 ft. of CR50 as portrayed in the attached files, to take effect upon approval from Celina's City Council.
